Active EMF Protection

What is EMF?

EMF is Electromagnetic fields. Wireless radiation or radio frequency radiation is emitted from all wireless devices, from cell phones to Wi-Fi, computers, TV transmitters and cell phone towers.

What is Blushield Active EMF Protection Technology

Blushield Active EMF Protection Technology is an active solution for EMFs (emissions from wireless products or items powered by mains power) which is one form of incoherence within our environment.

The unnatural EMF signals from anything electrical and wireless creates an incoherent environment around us and within us. The body interprets these artificial EMF signals as a stress signal which the body tries to fight, thus using energy which would normally be focused on keeping the body and brain functioning efficiently. Affecting the body at the cellular level, EMF makes it difficult for the body's ability to repair and heal itself.

Working at the cellular level, Blushield, a subtle energy device, mimicking Nature but with much more power, eliminates the biological and psychological stress of this toxic influence. Active protection provides a long-term solution to a wide range of incoherent signals within our environment, of which EMF is only one. As a tuning fork

The Tesla Gold Plug-in model is recommended for homes with low to medium EMF levels. Plug directly into the wall socket in a central area in your home, avoid power boards with multiple outlets. The Blushield Tesla will penetrate normal floors and walls. Buildings located near mobile phone towers, substations and high-tension power lines may require the plug-in large cube. Covers 45 metres radius in all directions (90m diameter). Size: 100mm x 100mm resonates so too does another tuning fork when we bring the vibrating one close enough within range of it. This is called sympathetic resonance. In effect this is how the Blushield works. A coherent field is produced and it is brought within our local environment, as long as all the right attributes are there the body will in turn become more coherent (in balance).

With long-term use of the Blushield you will find the body becomes more resilient to EMFs. The benefits are cumulative and felt more over time, rather than immediately.

Blushield has been independently tested by a lab that verifies Blushield's effectiveness using dark field microscopy and live blood analysis. Using the Blushield products one would expect a reduction or elimination of symptoms related to EMF exposure. This is reflected in your blood as healthier blood cells and a normalised immune system response.
