FARMING

PTY LTD

We are not looking at the symptom – we look at the entire system

Holistic Farming is a consulting company specialising in biological, organic and biodynamic systems.

Years of experience helping farmers in horticulture, broadacre, pasture, dairy and greenhouses establishing and growing a profitable enterprise.

We represent a variety of different companies which offer high performance organic fertilizers, amendments and energy tools.

We prepare nutrition programs that enable farmers to farm without dependence on chemical, pesticides, fungicides by restoring soil and plant health. We use highly specialized labs for soil, leaf and biological testing and work with each individual grower to create customized program.

Every farm is different and needs an individual approach by educating people how to work a Holistic System.

Most of our products are unique and consistently out performing synthetic fertilisers on chemical and biological farming systems.

We service customers all over Australia. Coaching growers to convert into organic and biological growing systems.

Field Broadcaster

A Field Broadcaster is a self-driven organisational energy device that, when used properly, sets up resonant biodynamics and other beneficial patterns of energy that plants and animals respond to with increased vigour/ growth and balance.

Field Broadcasters have proven effective to increase fertility, yields, disease resistance, reduce insect problems and increase nutrition.

We offer full-service support, yearly reagents renewal, monthly check if any additional reagents or inputs are needed, integration of pepper and special custom-made potencies.

One Broadcaster treats up to 6000 acres.
